

EMMA WIMAN,
PHARMACOVIGILANCE
MANAGER, IRW.

“Development, launch and beyond.

Is your safety radar on?”

YOU NEED TO KEEP a constant watch throughout your product’s life cycle. Continuous monitoring of the safety of pharmaceutical drugs is one of the most important tasks for the pharmaceutical industry. Does your company have the resources and competence?

We have the know-how and experience for the continuous monitoring of the safety profile of your products – through clinical development and beyond. Our team has years of experience from both the pharma industry and CRO world and can act either as your safety department or insourced into your own pharmacovigilance team.

We offer a wide range of pharmacovigilance services, available either as a complete solution or as standalone services. We can put together a solution that suits your needs.
